NATIONAL TRUST CONVENTION IN LOUISVILLE!

BY LYNNE LYNDRUP

As you know by having read the Spring and Summer issues of the CTA's Newsletter, The National Trust for Historic Preservation is holding its annual conference this year in Louisville during the week of September 28 – October 3. If you are interested in registering for this conference, you may request the information by calling 1-800-944-6847, e-mail conference@nthp.org, or go to the Trust's web site, www.nthpconference.org. All registrations must be submitted by September 23. On-site registration is also available for that day's events, should there be openings. The conference is being held at the Galt House, with registration on the second floor of the West Tower outside the Cochran/Archibald Ballroom. Registration opens on Monday, September 27 from 3:00 pm – 6:00 pm, and continues daily through Friday starting at 8:00 am, 7:30 am on Saturday, October 2. Volunteers are needed by the Trust. If you are interested, contact the Trust or call the CTA office at 459-0256.

The Cherokee Triangle is participating in a couple of Trust functions. We were asked by the Trust to sponsor their annual Candlelight Tour of Homes. Knowing that the Coalition of the Homeless has a tour of Triangle homes around that time each year, the CTA contacted them; we are working together to make this a fabulous event. We thank all the homeowners who have agreed to open their homes for this worthy cause. More

Flag-waving has never been more in vogue than in recent days as we've watched the Summer Olympics, but, for the Boy Scouts of America, displaying our national flag, the Council flag, and their troop flag has always been part and parcel of Scouting activities. Now, thanks to the inspiration and action of Scoutmaster Dewey Amundsen Jr. and members of the Original Highlands neighborhood Troop 234, the Cherokee Triangle Association and Art Fair can display their own flag!

cially important on Saturday and Sunday mornings as the artists and crafts people unload their wares. In appreciation, the CTA makes a donation to the Scout troop's activities fund.

"We appreciate the opportunity the Fair affords for our young men to participate in community service," explains Amundsen, "and we just felt that we wanted to give back to the neighborhood group. So, we went to Oates Flag Company, and Mrs. Oates, a former Triangle resident, worked with us to create the flag." The end product is a striking green flag with the triangular CTA emblem in white lettering. Now, the CTA Art Fair will have a standard to bear in the parade and a ready way to "fly the colors" whenever needed.

"My assistant scoutmaster, Bob Thonen, is the man who makes things happen in our Troop. We use the annual donation from the Art Fair to help defray the costs of such activities as our four-day summer camp out in Harrison County," continues Amundsen. "Our members have a chance to fish and swim, cave explore and eat four meals a day." That and similar troop activities are financed by fund-raising activities by the young men themselves. "The boys don't pay dues; they earn their money through community work." Troop 234 is sponsored by Christ Evangelical United Church of Christ.

In acknowledging the gift, CTA president Lynne Lyndrup commented, "We were totally surprised. Mr. Amundsen and his charges did this on their own, without any solicitation. Now, we have a concrete reminder of the never-wavering support the Cherokee Triangle gets from our Original Highlands neighbors. In my view, the flag's creation underlines how the Art Fair has become part of the larger community; the Fair has long been not just a neighborhood affair, but is truly a Louisville event"

LOUISVILLE METRO COUNCIL- MAN FOR DISTRICT 8

Janus, the Roman God of Beginnings, had faces that looked both to the past and future. First, I want to look back like Janus at the toughness our community showed when buffeted by July windstorms. Metro government workers went (and are still going) the extra-mile to help us with storm debris. Neighbors waited and waited together for the power to come back on and scores of utility workers played team ball under some pretty tough circumstances. In early August, your Metro Council Public Works Committee – I am its chair- summoned Metro department heads and utility company representatives for an assessment of our emergency response plan and recovery effort. While there was widespread praise for what was accomplished, we left the meeting with an even better blueprint for a community response to disaster.

And now a turn of the head Janus-like to the future. Despite waning summer, it's time to prepare for JANUS' (read that January) winter. Let setting the clock back be your reminder to check your smoke alarm battery. Then, as darkness at supertime sets in, make sure you have a trusty snow shovel! Finally, with the natural gas prices skyrocketing, fill some chinks where cold air penetrates and seal around your windows and doors.

We can feel really alive when we show resourcefulness in the face of challenges both past and future. Sometimes we do feel like Janus with two faces.

A Message From CTA President

LYNNE LYNDRUP

What a strange summer we have had this year! Two terrible storms, the second leaving some Triangle residents without power for almost a week. The damage to homes and cars parked on the streets as well as the loss of more of our decades-old trees still have people reeling. On the plus side, our "record low high" temperatures have certainly reduced the amount due on our electric bills.

As mentioned in previous issues of this Newsletter, the National Trust for Historic Preservation is holding their annual conference in Louisville this year. The dates are from September 28 through October 3. The Historic Preservation Committee of the CTA is planning a party on October 3 to celebrate the 30th anniversary of the Cherokee Triangle in conjunction with the end of the Trust convention. The party is scheduled for the afternoon in Willow Park. All Triangle residents are invited – but as with this year's Summer Concert Series, please leave your pets at home.

Other news in the Triangle includes the rezoning of the property at 1041 Cherokee Road. While the owner of the house, which currently has 5 apartments, wants to downsize the house to 3 apartments (a good thing), a rezoning to R-7, Multifamily, was necessary (there are many property requirements and zoning issues involved with this situation), partly due to the square footage of the addition on the rear of the house. The CTA Board voted to oppose the rezoning. However, Metro Planning Commission approved it. The main reason for the CTA's opposition was that a rezoning to multifamily would set an extremely bad precedent for our neighborhood. We live in a very dense area, with more than twice the number of multifamily buildings than single residences. Although the Commission approved the rezoning, their staff report does state a binding element of no more than three units can be developed on this property. The owner's attorney has also promised to include a Deed of Restriction that will prevent this or any future owner of this property to increase the units above three. This is not quite a win-win situation, but very close to it.

CTA Trustees - Old & New

BY LYNNE LYNDRUP

The Cherokee Triangle Association lost a few Trustees this past fiscal year due to term limits, time constraints and other personal reasons. We have a number of new Board members to take their places and I would like to take this opportunity to say good bye to the old and introduce the new Trustees.

Job Well Done

Jeff Been

Jeff Been fulfilled two full terms (six years) on the CTA Board. Even though his work as an attorney for Legal Aid Society kept him extremely busy, especially after being named Associate Director, he took precious free time to attend the CTA meetings and help the Board with legal advice. His calm demeanor and his ability to talk "lay" to the non-attorney types on the Board was greatly appreciated. He very often offered insight and diplomatic solutions to problems and disagreements. Jeff took his role as CTA Trustee very seriously and worked diligently on several committees, including Attorney's Group, Historic Preservation, External Affairs and Membership, as well as spearheading two extremely successful Neighborhood Forums. As much as we hate to see Jeff leave the Board, he has met the term limit of two three-year terms. We will certainly miss his expertise and insight.

Have a story to tell? Sent it to us at ctanewsletter@yahoo.com.

Grace Van Dyke

Grace Van Dyke chose not to run for a second term on the CTA Board. Grace is quite the social butterfly, dashing off to New York City and other places around the country to spend time with old friends and family. Her travels as well as her positions as the CTA's office administrator and highly productive advertising manager of the CTA Newsletter, keep her pretty busy. With so much time spent handling CTA office responsibilities and drumming up advertisers for the newsletter, she felt she had little time left for the other committees of the CTA. We won't actually miss her, because she intends to continue to attend the CTA meetings. We will look forward to seeing her each month, regardless of whether she sits at the Trustee Table or faces it!

Ellen Walton

Unfortunately for the CTA, during the first year of her second term on the Board, Ellen Walton was forced to resign her Trustee seat for personal reasons. She served on the External Affairs Committee, and provided outstanding help with CTA cocktail parties while on the Membership Committee. Ellen had served on the Executive Committee as secretary for two years, and was also very active on the Historic Preservation Committee, serving as Co-chair for two years. Her exceptional work on that committee is especially appreciated and she is sorely missed. However, Ellen continues to be interested in the Board's activities and occasionally offers tidbits of helpful insight and wisdom.

NOTTING HILL LTD.

BY GRACE VAN DYKE

No, this is not a British firm – although there are some English antiques inside – but the name was chosen by its Louisville owner, Sandra (Sandy) Stone, to commemorate numerous pleasant visits she enjoyed in the well-known London area, Notting Hill.

The firm celebrates its first anniversary this month, September 10th. It is located at 921 Baxter Avenue, a handsome landmark building dating back to the turn of the century. Its spacious square footage and high ceilings create a superb wall setting on which to display fine art, highlighting specific pieces such as engraved prints from before the turn of the century, lovely mirrors - one in particular from 1840 with rich veneer patina sconces, and other "object d'art" while the oversized front of the store provides ample room to display to great advantage unusual Salmon damask Victorian and French sofas, with down cushions, as well as nests of tables, graceful Oriental vase lamps, occasional wing chairs, side chairs such as Hitchcock chairs with rush seats, fine chests, a number of tilt top tables, one in particular a handsome mahogany that dates from the early 1800's. A tasteful, affordable, variety of accessory appointments are artfully placed throughout.

As you enter, you see against the right wall a marvelous French walnut break-front, circa 1860's, with unusual beveled glass doors at the top, and finely carved lower cabinet doors. Along the same wall are cabinets displaying china plates, oriental chests, a graceful Sheraton side board, while in the back room, a charming, eclectic mix greets the eye, such as a rare 7' tall 4-panel screen with a subtly painted garden scene, a handsome commode in Louis XV style with burnished serpentine drawers adorned with ormolu mounts behind which stands an intriguing 6' 3-panel domed screen painted a soft dark green over a leather backing. Glass cases that divide the large front room are filled with delightful small gifts at reasonable prices. One that catches the eye is an art deco period writing box with all-over floral silver pattern.

Although Sandy's career background is finance and accounting, her life-long interest in antiques began as a small child.

She and her sister were made aware of fine woods by their mother who through the years would upgrade pieces for the home, while teaching them the reason for doing so. And a friend of the family became a mentor from whom she learned all about fine furnishings and interior décor. So it was an easy career switch about a year or so ago. She started collecting pieces, large and small until her home began to look like a furniture warehouse. Then she began to look around for a location - she passed by 921 Baxter and saw that it was for rent! Previously occupied by a cellular phone business, Sandy got to work and renovated the interior, which was grungy with awful wall color paint, and lightened up the front, adding attractive flowers in stone urns outside.

"One of the great satisfactions I have in this new career," commented Sandy, "is the pleasure of working with a customer whose face lights up when I show her the kind of item that is just what she wanted. I enjoy bringing to the attention of visitors, that for me, each item has a personal history; so many of them are one of a kind, never mass produced as in the case of our current culture." And to illustrate her point, she held up a stunning art deco creamer with a unique shape, covered in gold leaf with a price tag of only $40!

NATIONAL TRUST, CTA PARTY

about the Candlelight Tour in this issue.

As mentioned in the Summer issue of this newsletter, the Cherokee Triangle's submission of a field session was accepted. Conventioneers will be touring the newly designated historic district of Clifton after which the bus will bring them into the Triangle. The Trust thought that this would be such a popular venue, that they requested we do it twice! The tours will be in the morning of Wednesday, September 29 and again on Friday, October 1. The Historic Preservation Committee of the CTA has worked diligently on this project and I am sure it will be the winner the Trust predicts. For information on getting tickets, contact the Trust.

The Cherokee Triangle will celebrate its 30th year as a Preservation District this year as well. To that end, the CTA is planning a special Sunday event on October 3 in Willow Park. All Cherokee Triangle residents are invited to attend. (As with the Summer Concert Series of this summer, please leave your pets at home. We love dogs, but they really don't belong at a party.) The festivities will start at 1:00 pm and continue until 6:00 pm. We plan to cook brats and hot dogs, serve soft drinks and beer, provide music, and maybe have a booth or two. It should be fun, and what a great reason for a celebration! Hope to see you there.

If your home is at least 100 years old you qualify to purchase a Cherokee Triangle Association century marker. The markers measure 6"x6"x6" and are made of bronze. Please contact:

CHEROKEE TRIANGLE CANDLELIGHT TOUR

BY LESLIE MILLAR

The Cherokee Triangle Neighborhood Association in conjunction with the National Trust for Historic Preservation will host The Cherokee Triangle Tour of Homes on September 30th, from 6:30 to 10:30 p.m. This event will benefit the Coalition for the Homeless, Inc. Based in Louisville, the Coalition provides support for area shelters, transitional programs, and the White Flag severe weather emergency shelter program. Out-of-town visitors from the National Trust will mingle with locals this year on a grand tour up and down Cherokee Road. The circuit spans nearly from Cave Hill Cemetery to the General Castleman monument.

Ten important architectural specimens will be open for candle-light viewing: the homes of Ms. Augusta Brown at 944 Cherokee Road; Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Toner at 949; Highland North (the former Parr's Rest) at Cherokee Road and Highland Avenue; the former Carnegie Library at 1000; Dr. and Mrs. Ronald Masden at 1028; Highland Baptist Church's Sanctuary at 1101; Mr. and Mrs. Michael Summerfield at 1114; Mr. and Mrs. Eric Potempa at 1238; Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Underhill at 1311; and the Roundhouse at Cherokee Parkway and Cherokee Road.

Trolley transportation (supplied by TARC) will carry guests up and down one of Louisville's most scenic drives. And complimentary wine, hors d'oeuvres, coffees, and desserts from local restaurants will refresh the weary at Highland North throughout the evening. Sponsors of the event will also be welcome to an intimate cocktail gathering—a preview event at the Lexington Road home of Anne & Terry Sams.

All in all, the Cherokee Triangle Candlelight Home Tour will be a fantastic showcase of our gracious way of life—and it will help those who are without a home. Please contact event co-chairs Deirdre Seim (473-8519) or Polly Adler (458-8759) for additional information, questions, or concerns.

Welcome to the CTA Board!

Sue Bauer

Sue is a native Louisvillian who attended UK and moved to Orange County, CA, where she received her BA from the University of California. During the 30 years she lived there, she was active in numerous civic, community and cultural organizations and served as president of Belcourt Homeowners Association in Newport Beach. Since 1994 she has resided at 1400 Willow and is a member of the Board of Directors. She was employed at the Louisville Olmsted Parks Conservancy as Director of Annual Giving from 1997 - 2003. Sue is delighted to live in the Cherokee Triangle and encourages the continued restoration and preservation of the historic homes and Frederick Law Olmsted designed parks and parkways.

John Downard

John is not only a native Louisvillian, but his family lived on Baringer Avenue from the time he was born until he was 12 years of age. He and his wife, Mary Alexander, moved to Glenmary Avenue five years ago. He recently retired from the Legislative Research Council where he was the manager of the Office of Constituent Services. His goal as a Trustee would be to reinforce the strong foundation that past and current Trustees have built to ensure the preservation of the physical and cultural amenities of our historic district. John also plans to work with the other Trustees and neighbors to implement the goals established in the Cherokee Triangle Preservation and Restoration Plan which serves to protect and enhance our neighborhood. To that end, John has volunteered to be the Chair of our Zoning Committee and has already made quite a few suggestions as to how to proceed.

Antonia Lindauer

Antonia is also a native Louisvillian, having lived in the Cherokee Triangle her entire life. She is employed in Intergovernmental Relations in the Mayor's office. She believes that this connection will allow her to serve as the CTA's liaison to the Mayor, Metro Council and other government agencies. Antonia has helped her father, Tony Lindauer, in planning and carrying out the Summer Concert Series in Willow Park. She has also volunteered at past Art Fairs and has helped with a CTA cocktail party. She hopes to continue helping in the planning of the summer concerts and becoming a more instrumental participant in running the Art Fair. Being the youngest Board member, as well as a renter on Everett Avenue, she should bring more energy and possibly a different outlook on certain issues that may come up. She has already volunteered to take the job of Secretary the first year of her first term!

Leslie Millar

Leslie Millar has served on the CTA Board for a year now, filling a vacated seat. She is also a native of Louisville, having lived in the Triangle for the past six years. While taking some time off from Board functions due to the birth of a third daughter, Leslie was still able to organize the annual children's Halloween Parade, served as an Art Fair volunteer, and helped organize last year's Coalition of the Homeless Cherokee Triangle Home Tour. Leslie has written articles for the CTA Newsletter and serves on the Membership and Historic Preservation Committees as well.

A Taste of Deer Park features eateries, businesses, and an anniversary celebration

Imagine, for a moment, what it might be like to live a life of champagne wishes and caviar dreams. You could jet over to Germany for a handcrafted brew. On a moment's notice, you could head to a neighborhood pub in Dublin for some fish and chips. You might find yourself browsing for one-of-a-kind artwork for your home, or dining at a sushi bar somewhere in Tokyo. Sounds great, right? Of course. But what if you're really just living a life of Bud Light wishes and goldfish cracker dreams? No problem! You can still enjoy authentic ethnic eateries and amazing artwork when you're living the simple life – just jet over to the First Annual Taste of Deer Park!

On Saturday, October 16, from 4:00 p.m. to 9:00 p.m., the Deer Park Neighborhood Association will sponsor A Taste of Deer Park, in honor of the Association's 30th anniversary. For just $10 you can sample the wide variety of foods, products and services that are offered by the businesses and restaurants of the Deer Park Neighborhood. Some businesses participating include Club Grotto, Café Metro, Uptown Café, La Bo Dega, De Le Torres, Cumberland Brews, Penn Station, The Other Place Eatery, Olmecas Gourmet Mexican, Sweet and Savory, Smoothie King, Shenanigan's Irish Pub and Grille, Norris Place Ice Cream Shop, Jicama Grille, to name a few. Once you pick up your "passport" at the registration table at the corner of Bardstown Road and Eastern Parkway, you're welcome to visit any of the participating businesses along the west side of Bardstown Road and end at the corner of Deer Park Avenue and Bardstown Road (Farmer's Market corner). Here we will have entertainment and several more businesses to 'Taste'.

Proceeds from the event will be split between the Deer Park Neighborhood Association's neighborhood beautification fund and two charities, Highland Community Ministries and Dreams with Wings. For more information, please call Tim Corrigan at 515-0330. We hope to see you at the Taste of Deer Park this October 16!

CULINARY

CONNECTIONS 2004

Would you like to sample the best gourmet tidbits in the city without leaving the neighborhood? Join Kentucky Refugee Ministries for a gourmet evening at the newly remodeled Highland North (formerly known as Parr's Rest) on November 13th! Sample hors d'oeuvres, appetizers and desserts from Louisville's best restaurants while you enjoy a complimentary wine bar and entertaining live food preparation demonstrations.

Culinary Connections 2003 showcased the food of over 50 Louisville restaurants, including: Jack Fry's, Avalon, Jarfi's Bistro, Le Relais, Club Grotto, Cafe Metro, Uptown Cafe, Babylon, 211 Clover Lane, Cafe Fraiche, Lilly's and Ramsi's Cafe on the World. The final list of participating restaurants for Culinary Connections 2004 isn't yet available, but most (possible all) of the 2003 participants will return. Some of the city's newest hot dining spots will also offer samples from their menus.

While enjoying the fabulous food, shop the silent auction for culinary items large and small—everything from autographed cookbooks to a food lover's tour of New Orleans will be available.

Tickets are $40 per person or $75 per couple; all proceeds will benefit Kentucky Refugee Ministries. Tickets are available now at the KRM offices located at 969B Cherokee Road (the rear side of Highland North). Tickets will be available at Carmichael's bookstore beginning October 15th.

- When: Saturday, November 13th, 6:30 PM- 10 PM

PLEASE MOVE YOUR CAR!

When the Street Cleaning signs go up on your street, please obey the law and move your car. You will be ticketed, at a cost of $15 to $25. Not only that, but when you do finally move your car, you leave behind the tell-tale signs – a leaf and debris strewn area where your car had been. This is especially important this month with the National Trust for Historic Preservation coming not only to Louisville, but to the Cherokee Triangle as well. Please respect your neighborhood and move your car on street cleaning days. Your neighbors will appreciate it!
